

Mount Auckland

Trish

A perfect tramping Sunday yet again. Someone commented that the best weather this winter has been at weekends. Something which will take some getting used to!

Although this is an easy walk we all had a reasonable day's tramping.

Everyone did the track from end to end – and then back again for good measure. The faster party also walked up the approach road from the Glorit end thus giving us a good climb to start off with.

Although the track covers much farm land there are still good areas of attractive bush to walk through and some excellent climbs to the Trig. The summit is at 305metres and from it there are good views out towards the Hen and Chickens and, to the west, out over the Kaipara. In fact there were mighty views all along.

Thank you Peter for organising this trip – and for fixing the weather too!
